Thursday, June 2 Joseph Vincelli

Joseph Vincelli's signature is his passion towards his music.

As a native of New Jersey, it was during his studies in Boston at the prestigious Berklee College of Music that he learned a deep appreciation for the art of improvisation. Vincelli's ability to create music from an array of sources sets him apart from other smooth jazz artists. Vincelli has recorded fourteen CDs and a DVD in a seventeen year period. His newest CD, entitled The Invitation, features many new songs as well as collaborations with pianist Joel McCray. On each of these recordings, his high energy reverberates with every note. A Bradley Fair favorite, Vincelli returns by popular demand. For more information, visit josephvincelli.com.

Thursday, June 9 Brian Simpson

Celebrated keyboardist, composer and studio musician, Brian Simpson. Known for his ability to sculpt timeless love songs, soulful party anthems and melodies that stay on your mind, Brian Simpson is truly a master at his craft. Simpson's breakthrough as a solo artist began in 2005 with the #1 radio hit "It's All Good." He has toured with some of the greats of recent jazz history, and has been the musical director for jazz saxophonist Dave Koz for the past 15 years. For more information, visit bsimpsonmusic.com.

Thursday, June 16 Grady Nichols

From small town Midwest beginnings to an internationally known saxophonist, Grady Nichols enjoys an audience as broad as his musical taste. Receiving critical acclaim for his fifth album, Take Me with You, Nichols has enjoyed great success in the smooth jazz genre. His goal on his latest recording was to showcase his broad range of musical influences and tastes, while creating an edgier sound. The result of this album is a sound that is fresh, unique, and embraceable by anyone who likes a great beat with a memorable melody. Nichols uses elements of jazz, reggae, Latin, blues and gospel to energize audiences with his uplifting multi-faceted blend. For more information, visit gradynichols.com.

Thursday, June 23 Four 80 East with Shilts & Matt Marshak

Four80East is the brainchild of producers Rob DeBoer and Tony Grace, also known internationally for their indie label/production house, Boomtang. Their sound lies at the forefront of what has been called the nu jazz movement - taking the best of contemporary jazz and pop styles and aligning them to produce an improvisational dance-infused sound. For more information, visit four80east.com.

Paul "Shilts" Weimar hails from London, England and has been playing saxophone since his early teens. His career has spanned all forms of jazz, soul and pop music, and he has toured all over the world and recorded with a host of international artists. For more information, visit shiltsmusic.com.

Matt Marshak's live shows overflow with passion, energy, crowd interaction and intensity, as the guitarist throws a series of blues, rock, soul and jazz licks. Marshak is one of the most appealing new faces in contemporary jazz. For more information, visit mattmarshak.com.

Thursday, June 30 JayRob Dimension • 6:15-7:15

The JayRob Dimension project started in April 2009 between trumpet player Jay Daversa and bass player Roberto Bernardinello. The sound of JRD is a modern blend of Jazz, Latin and Funk displayed through refined harmonic progressions and sophisticated melodies. Joining JRD at Bradley Fair will be Joel McRae on keyboards and Danielle Pockett-Brown on drums.

Thursday, June 30 Marcus Anderson • 7:30-9:30

Capital Jazz Fest Challenge winner, Marcus Anderson electrifies stages with an unmatched energy and an intoxicating sound that has audiences everywhere up on their feet. He recently performed at Catalina Island Jazz Trax Festival, Humphrey's Backstage, and Jazz Fest West. The multi-talented saxophonist, flautist and vocalist from Spartanburg, SC is about to release his third solo CD, NOW, a dynamic new project that features Four80East, Matt Marshak, Julian Vaughn & Nicholas Cole.
